

Certified LeSS[®] Executive

Whilst covering the fundamentals of Large Scale Scrum (LeSS) in a way specifically designed for the executive and senior manager, the [Certified LeSS[®] Executive](#) training also covers the fundamental aspects of organisational change and how the change requested eradicates dependencies that are the scourge of many organisations.

For a business to thrive, it needs to be able to quickly and cheaply adapt to changing priorities, enabling it to always be working on the newly discovered highest-value item. This has always been a desire for many who are in the business of delivering software. LeSS, however, goes deeper than this.

LeSS is one of the leanest, most minimal organisational frameworks that enables the delivery of a high-quality product. The implications of this are that it proactively makes transparent and empowers you to remove waste from the entire organisation, paving the way to true business agility.

What participants will learn

Whether you are an executive, senior manager or someone who supports them, this course will give you a deep insight into what is required to build a successful Product- and Customer-centric organisation using LeSS.

- Why Large Scale Scrum is less about the method and more about organisational design and structure.
- Why and how executives and senior managers must drive the change for a successful implementation.
- How the change from a Project- to a Product-centric organisation will affect the business, results, people and leadership responsibilities.

What participants will get

- Two days of high-quality instruction from one of the most experienced LeSS trainers in the world
- Certification as a [Certified LeSS[®] Executive](#)
